Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Tuesday 11 May 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Sunny spells and heavy showers.

Today:
Rain clearing northwards across Scotland to become confined to the Northern Isles, with sunny spells developing. Showers across southern England and Wales at first, developing further north through the day, some heavy with hail and thunder.

Tonight:
Rain or showers will move northwards into Scotland, becoming heavy in places. These turning somewhat drier in the south later.

Wednesday:
Another day of sunny spells and heavy showers, slow-moving with hail and thunder across northern parts. More persistent rain arriving across southern England later.

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Sunny spells and showers, these heavy at times with hail and thunder. Some longer spells of rain at times. Temperatures close to normal with light or moderate winds.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.